Veteran's Day Remembered

Veteran's Day Remembered

An original speech, written and presented by Americanism Committee Chairman William "Doc" Ryan, during a Veteran's Day Service at the Boca Raton Cemetery November 11, 2002

"On the Mall in our Nation's Capital, between the Washington Monument and the Jefferson Memorial, stands the Vietnam Memorial Wall and the tribute to my generation's war, the Korean Memorial. There were many conflicts during the last century that involved American citizens. Of all the armed involvements there is one that stands alone in terms of total commitment by all the American people -- World War Two.

In the late 1930s, as the forces of evil and darkness began their siege of European nations, America tended to stand aside, looking on and offering moral support. After all, we fought World War One and remembered it as "the War to end all Wars." The German onslaught was a hard lesson in just how quickly circumstances can change.

On December 7, 1941 a "Day of Infamy" was proclaimed by President Franklin Roosevelt. The Japanese left us with no choice but to become totally immersed in a war of survival. This was not someone else's war, but an attack of a magnitude that threatened, for the first time, the very identity and sovereignty of our young nation. The declaration of war by the Japanese, in tandem with the Germans and the Italians, brought this response from the Prime Minister of Great Britain, Sir Winston Churchill. Churchill stated, "Many people have been astonished, that on the same day, the Japanese have seen fit to declare war on the United States of America and the British Empire. They have indeed embarked on a very considerable undertaking. What kind of people do they think we are? Is it possible they don't realize that we will persevere against them until they are taught a lesson that they and the world will never forget?"

These were brave words, but was his confidence warranted? Our American fleet was destroyed at Pearl Harbor. Our army was undertrained and undermanned. As a nation we were woefully unprepared. The Germans and the Japanese had been building their war machines for years. German General Hermann Goering reassured his skeptics, "Americans can't build airplanes and tanks, but they are very good at making refrigerators and razor blades." He was wrong! The same processes that were used to mass-produce consumer goods were transferred over to make war goods.

From 1937 to 1941 Japan prided itself on tripling the size of its air force from 1,500 to 4,500 planes. By 1943, American factories were producing 7,000 planes a month. Henry Kaiser designed the 10,000-ton Liberty Ship that could be produced in four and one-half days and we launched over 8,000 during the war. Our service people fought and died in the various military theatres in Europe and the Pacific. However, it was the mobilization of our domestic resources that eventually made it possible for our military to overcome and conquer our enemies.

At the Big Three Conference in Tehran, Soviet Dictator Joseph Stalin offered a toast, "To American productivity, without which this war would have been lost." Women came out of the homes and into the factories. My mother, Lillian, who had never worked outside the home, went to Miami Airport and became a riveter. Lillian, not Rosie the Riveter, became an integral part of a commitment by all Americans to preserve our national heritage.

Now, 57 years later, we honor all those Americans, dead and living, who paid an enormous price so future generations could live in freedom and prosperity. The wisdom of that sacrifice is being fulfilled worldwide. More and more communist and socialist economies are embracing democratic principles. American's bravery, sacrifice, courage and selfless patriotism defended not only our American way of life, but has brought democracy, freedom and liberty to millions of people in nations near and far. To this end we salute all our World War Two Veterans and all Americans who made our victory possible. God Bless You One and All -- and God Bless America."

The holiday season is upon us. I know as Elks we are in a giving mood 24 hours a day, seven days a week. But, at this time of year we all reach down deeper and work a little harder to help those who are less fortunate. Something about this time makes me crave the spirit of giving more than usual. I think that is why I love this organization so much. I get to have this feeling all year by volunteering and helping any way I can to keep “Meeting the Challenge.”

Thanksgiving is one of my favorite times. I do not know what I would do if not for the family gatherings and social activities. I remember growing up and being surrounded by family and friends for the entire day. Socializing, playing games and, of course, consuming more food in one sitting than I ever thought was possible. I know many Elks Lodges open their doors to serve meals for the homeless and others in need. I have had the pleasure helping at these events during some of my travels and seeing firsthand the random acts of kindness that happen every day through our benevolent activities. It is one more reason why I am proud to be an Elk.

Now is also a good time to hold a veterans event at your Lodge coinciding with Veterans Day. So long as there are Veterans, Elks will never forget them. Set up a dinner, hold a social event, set up an activity or reach out to veterans homes or hospitals in your area and determine if there is anything your Lodge can do to thank them for their service. We all owe gratitude for the commitment they made to our country.

In addition to veterans activities, the Americanism Essay Contest and Elks Most Valuable Student Scholarship deadlines are this month. Reach out to your schools and give them a friendly reminder. One more reminder: Do not forget to turn in your membership report.

Now is the time to start working on your annual Memorial Service that will take place December 5, 2021. As you all know, this is the time to remember all our departed Members over the past year and also reflect on those who have departed in years past.

No matter how you celebrate Thanksgiving or volunteer to serve, thank those around you for everything they do and give thanks for what you have received.

November and December of our year can be referred to as the “Giving point”. There are so many things, people and events that we can truly give a portion of our earnings and time to that it can be so overwhelming.

A time for all of us to salute and honor our service men and women is November 11th, Veterans Day. This National Holiday originated as “Armistice Day”, President Woodrow Wilson gave fellow ELK General John Pershing, American Expeditionary Force Commander of WWI. General Pershing was also a Professor of Military Science and Tactics at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln from 1891 to 1895, where he created the Pershing Rifles. The honor of setting the exact moment that the Armistice would forever be marked was left up to him. Pershing selected the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month – his personal tribute to the memory of those soldiers, “Elks and non-Elks alike,” who had fallen.

Unlike Memorial Day, Veterans Day pays tribute to all American veterans—living or dead—but especially gives thanks to living veterans who served their country honorably during war or peacetime.

In 1941, the US House and Senate passed a resolution saying that Thanksgiving would occur on the fourth Thursday of November. This would thereby maintain the Christmas shopping season during years when November had five Thursdays.

This may answer why the holiday is scheduled the way that it is, but it doesn’t explain why Thursday was chosen instead of another day of the week. But some have said it was to create Black Friday, so they say.

Now we have three days which are encouraging us but this November please remember that 11.6% of your fellow Nebraska’s are considered food insecure. This is according to the Map the Meal Gap report from Feeding America. Over 200,000 Nebraskans struggle with food insecurity.

What is food insecurity? Food insecurity is defined as being without reliable access to affordable and nutritious food.

But what can we do as Elks?

There are so many ways we can make a difference. From donating food and funds to contributing your time through volunteering, you can choose what’s most meaningful for you.

Places like; We Can Do This, The Food Bank, People’s City Mission, Tabitha, Matt Talbot are some examples of local agencies from which you can choose to donate. You can also donate to our very own ENF.

When you see a Vet or a First Responder give them a hearty thank you. If you are so moved to donate just keep it in mind that you are making it a November for others and yourself to Remember. Have a Fantastic November. We will be seeing you around our Lodge!

- Harry

Knight's Tales

Justice from a Holy Scriptural viewpoint—the Bible being its emblem for Elks members—is the measuring rod of truth versus falsehood. Without justice being even-handed among Elks’ obligations and members duties, the Elks’ mission of helps in the local community and across this nation would be fruitless.

Justice, by it’s nature as proposed by God, offered human kind a chance for fairness and equity in matters among Elks’ members, as well as family, neighbors, friends, coworkers, and others. When justice is violated by an Elk, it must be counterbalanced to restore its integrity for all concerned.

Justice is the legitimate fulcrum for not only maintaining order within a given organization, it’s also the manner of correcting and restoring order. By Jesus’ accounting; adding, maintaining, and restoring justice becomes the means for an organization’s integrity to be compassionate, communicative, and honest.

Justice is God’s gatekeeper for moral and ethical behavior, giving rise to an Elk’s full awareness of their place in his or her community of fellow human beings.

Justice is one of four pillars of being an Elk in the community, at work, and at home.

-Rev. Dr. William Jackson, Loyal Knight

As we see winter present itself, please keep those who are in need of warmth in mind. An upcoming opportunity will present itself to us in the form of a coat drive. Please help if you can! Gently used, new, small and large coats will be given to our children of need.

Being a part of our last ritual, though I have yet to memorize my part, was a lot of fun. Thanks to all for the compliments and understanding.

Please keep in mind as we go deeper into winter, while you’re shopping for gifts and or heading out to meet friends for lunch. Giving a hungry person a meal is not charity. Charity is sharing a meal when you yourself are hungry.

- Ed Holloway, Leading Knight

Hello Fellow Elks,

Sitting here thinking about this last month and it has been rather interesting. I've been helping a lot more with household chores with Vicki not getting around with a bad foot. We were talking the other day about how did we have time for jobs, doctor appointments, shopping, meetings, etc. Don't know when we found time to work! Thinking for a while, I figured out just maybe we did things faster years back. I kind of doubt it but it does make sense. I'm sure we are not the only folks this is happening to.

The one bright spot for October was being part of the team initiating our daughter-in-law Juli into Elkdom. It felt really good to welcome her into the Lodge. I'm sure Wes Durst was proud also. Don't forget, November bring the start of the hide project, so bring your deer hides to the Lodge and place them in the red bin on south side of the building.

I guess I've rambled on enough. Hope you all had a good Halloween and have a Great Thanksgiving!

Be Safe <-----> Be Good

-Larry Jurgens, Lecturing Knight

As always, please don’t hesitate to contact me if you have questions or need assistance with all things Elk. See you at the Lodge!

Have you seen the really neat T-shirt members of our Drove have been sporting? Thank-you, BA...they are really neat!!

Wauneta Peterson and Diane Z. are the Christmas committee this year, and one of Santa’s elves whispered in my ear that they have plans well under way for our party. Can you believe it’s that time again! Penny Taylor will be sending out post-cards with all the information you need, the where and when, so watch your mailbox.

Our next Regular meeting is Wednesday, November 10th at 5:30pm. We will be nominating our slate of officers to be voted on at our December meeting.
